“Excellent for quick and relevant dialogue”

“Excellent for quick and relevant dialogue”

ESVAGT has appointed five colleagues from its vessels as “Yammer champions” who will spread the message to seamen.

“Having ambassadors who can show the way to their fellow colleagues is important. They will contribute to creating the traffic and life that “Yammer” needs to work,” says Lise Bjerning Terp, Management Assistant at ESVAGT:

““Yammer” needs to be anchored amongst the seamen to work. It was therefore important that we included five colleagues from our vessels right from the testing phase. They needed to see the potential and want to be part of spreading the message,” she says. The company’s works committee helped to select the “Yammer champions”.

One of those five is Jesper Holm, Master on board the “Esvagt Dee”. He is enthusiastic about the new tool and uses it often:

““Yammer” has given us much better access to information and dialogue in our everyday work,” he says:

“It is much more dynamic and interactive than the newsletters we used to have. This is live and fast. You can comment on things and initiate dialogue. It has great potential,” says Jesper Holm.

He is a keen advocate of “Yammer” and hopes that more colleagues will see what it can do:

“The possibilities for a good debate with colleagues is one of the big plusses. Seamen like to be told things and like to discuss things about work and “Yammer” is a fantastic platform for this,” he says.
